1 Introduction

1.1 Introduction

1.1.1 Overview

OZONE is an ecosystem of software that enables users from numerous organizations to share data and manipulate it solely within browser memory. It comprises three specific products that interact with each other. Also, OZONE includes an inter-widget communication (IWC) component that enables its widgets to communicate solely within the browser—without sending data to and from servers. Each product performs a specific task:

- HUD – An organizational display that houses applications users find in Center and want to store in their local environment, much like a bookmark in an Internet browser window, see section 1.2.3.3.3.
- Center – A store—compared to a commercial application store like Apple’s App Store or Google Play—use it to search for and bookmark applications to use in your instance of OZONE.
- Webtop – The framework where applications run and interact with each other. Webtop creates an environment where OZONE compatible applications can share a virtual network and core services that solely exist within the browser’s memory.
- IWC – The technology widgets use to communicate with each other within a browser without sending data back to their respective servers.

1.2 Global Toolbar

The Global Toolbar appears at the top of each product in the OZONE family. Use it to navigate between HUD, Center and Webtop. From the toolbar, you can access your settings and Help resources, see notifications or create a listing.

A blue Global Toolbar icon signifies which part of OZONE you are viewing and alerts you of unread notifications.

Each Global Toolbar icon is described:

-  -- HUD (Heads up display), see 2.1: HUD Overview.
-  -- Center, see section 4.1: Center Overview.

-  -- Webtop, see section 3.1: Webtop Overview.
-  -- Notifications, see section 1.2.1.
-  -- Help Content see section 1.2.2.
-  -- Main Menu see section 1.2.3.

1.2.1 Notifications

Notifications are located on the top-right side of the Global Toolbar. Center stewards use them to alert users of upcoming events. If you have any unread notifications, the  changes to . When you click the notifications icon, notifications will display below it:

1.2.1.1 Dismissing notifications

Click the X in the upper-right corner of a notification to dismiss it. If notifications are not dismissed by a user, they will disappear from the list when they expire.

1.2.2 Help

Click the  to access system help. Stewards house documents and links to resources there. If you need a help resource that isn't available in the Help section, contact the Help Desk from the link on the drop-down Main Menu.

1.2.3 Main Menu

The Main Menu is identified by three parallel, stacked, horizontal lines on the right side of the Global Toolbar: . Among other things, the Main Menu allows you to access your Profile, update your Settings and create or manage listings. The menu is described below:

1.2.3.1 Personalize

Personalize contains links to your personalized, account functions.

- Bookmarks returns to the HUD which displays all listings that are linked to your account.
- Profile opens a window with your account information:
 - Name

Note: Owning a listing means you are responsible for it and probably created it. To see listings that you downloaded from the Store, click Bookmarks.
- Settings ask your preference for the Default Application Launch. By default, applications launch in a new tab. If you change the default setting to Open in Webtop all listings will launch on Webtop when you double-click them in the HUD. They will also automatically appear in your HUD.

1.2.3.2 Create

The Create section relates to the development of applications and their submission to Center.

- Submit a Listing takes you to the Listing Create/Edit Form. Completing the form allows you to submit listings to Center. For instructions see section 4.2: Listings: View, Create, Edit.
- Developer Resources opens a website selected by a Center steward.

1.2.3.3 Manage

As a user, the Manage section displays information about listings you own. Stewards will see additional settings related to administering listing in their organization; Center stewards can access system settings from this drop-down.

- Listing Management displays different information for different users. The following sections explain each field as it relates to a user, org steward or Marketplace steward.
- Contact opens a portal to several feedback and help resources:

- Contact Help Desk your administrator will configure this setting to open an email to your IT support team or send you directly to a form to request IT support.
- Submit a Request allows you to suggest new features
- Give Feedback your administrator will configure this setting to open an email or contact form that sends your message to the people whom gather requirements about the system. If it is not configured, contact your org steward.
- Connect With Us links to popular social media feeds about OZONE

As a user, you see all the listings that you own (including active, disabled and draft listings); the Recent Activity tab describes changes to listings you own; and the State panel on the left side provides an overview on the status of your listings. The statuses include:

In OZONE, you will probably spend most of your time in Webtop. This is where you will use the listings that you found in Center and bookmarked to the HUD. Webtop is the framework where applications run and interact with each other. Webtop creates an environment where OZONE compatible applications can share a virtual network and core services that solely exist within the browser's memory.

You can create multiple dashboards with different configurations of listings. This makes it possible to configure different dashboards for different tasks. You can use the same listing on multiple dashboards. The dashboards can be in grid or desktop format. If you edit the dashboard to change it from one format to the other, your listings will lose their state (i.e. they will refresh and you will lose the data they are currently displaying).

Create a dashboard and add listings to it:

1. Click at the bottom-left side of Webtop's lower toolbar.
2. Click + Create a new dashboard.
3. Type a Name and select if the dashboard will have a grid or desktop format.
4. Click Create Dashboard, the dashboard will automatically open.
5. Now it's time to add listings. Click the at the bottom-left side of the Webtop's lower toolbar.

6. All the listings you bookmarked to the HUD will appear. Select the ones you want to use on this dashboard and click Open.

3.5.2 Edit or Delete a Dashboard

After creating a dashboard you can change its name or view. However, if you change its view (from desktop to grid or grid to desktop), you will lose the state of the listings on that dashboard. That means you will lose any data loaded in that dashboard when it resets.

To edit a dashboard:

1. Click Default ^ at the bottom-left side of Webtop's lower toolbar.
2. Click the edit icon beside the dashboard that you want to change:

3. The edit window opens. Change the Name or View.

Note: If you change the view, you will lose the state of the listings on the dashboard.

4. Click Save Dashboard.
